TOPOGRAPHY ●●●●●The Northsea for sporty cyclistsFrom Eur 999,-*Your tour

Thatched houses, sheep grazing on dikes, red and white striped light-houses and the interplay of high and low tide - on the North Sea Cycle Route you will experience the full programme of the North Sea coast! You start in the important Danish harbour town of Esbjerg and cycle not far from the coast to Ribe, Denmark's oldest town. The tour continues to the not-so-grey town of Husum, to the kilometre-long sandy beach of St. Peter-Ording, through the Dithmarschen region near St. Michaelisdonn and along the Elbe to Hamburg. On the way, you will get to know the islands of Fanø, Rømø and Sylt.

Stages description

Day 1: Individual arrival in Esbjerg

Your cycle tour begins in Esbjerg, Denmark. The town was founded a good 150 years ago. From the top of Vandtårnet you have a wonderful panoramic view of the city, the harbour and as far as the island of Fanø. Or how about a trip to Sædding beach? It is overlooked by the striking sculpture group Man by the Sea.

Day 2: Esbjerg – Fanø – Ribe, approx. 70 km + ferry

A ferry (not included) will take you to the island of Fanø. Today you decide whether you want to explore the island by bike or whether you would rather enjoy a relaxing sunbath on the fine sandy beaches of the west coast. Later, the ferry will take you back to the mainland. Ribe, the oldest city of Denmark with its unequal towers, can be seen from afar.

Day 3: Ribe – Mandø – Havneby (Rømø), approx. 75 km + tractor bus

Today you go to the island of Mandø. At low tide a tractor bus (not included) takes you to the tidal island. The largest sandbank in the Wadden Sea, Koresand, in the southwest of the island, is particularly impressive. You may be lucky enough to see seals sunbathing. Continue on to the island of Rømø. The main town Havneby is your destination today.

Day 4: Havneby – Sylt – Niebüll / Schlüttsiel, approx. 60 / 85 km + ferry and train ride

After a short crossing you reach List on the island of Sylt – Germany's northernmost community. At the harbour you will be tempted by the smell of fish rolls. After a small refreshment you can explore the island on any of the bike routes. The train from Westerland brings you to the mainland.

Day 5: Niebüll – Husum, approx. 90 / 65 km

Not long after you start your cycling day you pass the harbour towns of Dagebüll and Schlüttsiel. Always along the coast, a first detour to the Hamburger Hallig is worthwhile. The peninsula is only one square kilo- metre in size. Today's destination is Husum, the hometown of the famous writer Theodor Storm. He once described the town as a grey city by the sea. However, you will be greeted by a lively town and a colourful harbour.

Day 6: Husum – St. Peter-Ording – Tönning / Lunden, approx. 85 / 90 km

Your cycle tour takes you to the Eiderstedt peninsula. The 40-metre high red and white striped lighthouse, the landmark of North Friesland, can already be seen from afar. A long break is recommended in St. Peter-Ording. Strengthened, you continue to Tönning, your destination for the day. In the Multimar Wattforum you can learn more about life in the Wadden Sea.

Day 7: Tönning – St. Michaelisdonn / Brunsbüttel, approx. 65 – 90 km

On your cycling route today you find the largest coastal protection structure in Germany – the Eider Barrage. Your first stop thereafter is recommended in Büsum. It is the origin of the famous Büsum crabs. On the way, there is always the opportunity for a refreshment in the sea and a relaxing sunbath on one of the many sandy beaches. Refreshed, the tour continues through Dithmarschen to Brunsbüttel or St. Michaelisdonn.

Day 8: Brunsbüttel – Hamburg, approx. 80 / 105 km

Today is the last stage, but also the longest of your bike tour. The route includes mostly flat bike paths. Along the Kiel Canal you will reach Hamburg. You may decide how you would like to spend the last evening in the Elbe metropolis.

Day 9: Individual departure

After breakfast you start your individual return journey home or extend your stay.
