Your tour

Our trip on the Maare-Mosel Cycle Route is ideal for getting to know both the Moselle and the Volcanic Eifel in just a few days. First, explore the Moselle upstream and cycle to Trier, the oldest city in Germany. Marvel at the old town with its numerous Roman buildings, including the Porta Nigra, the amphitheatre, the Imperial Baths and the Roman Bridge. You return to Mülheim by cycle bus to get to know the volcanic Eifel on the Maare-Mosel cycle path the next day. You will be thrilled by the diverse and beautiful landscapes of this region. From Mülheim you will also cycle downstream along the Moselle. Both on the Moselle itself and on the Maare-Moselle cycle path, you will be cycling almost without any ascents and will experience a short holiday that you will remember for a long time.

Stages description

Day 1: Individual arrival to Mülheim

Welcome to our cycle tour on the Maare-Moselle cycle path! Your overnight stop for the next few days is Mülheim. Nestled between vineyards, forests and meadows, the winegrowing village is located on the right bank of the Moselle. After your arrival at the hotel, grab your bike and explore the village. The Sonnenlay vineyard to the south of the village is known for its Zeppelin wine. This was often served on Zeppelin voyages in the last century, which is how it got its name - try it!

Day 2: Mülheim – Trier, approx. 60 km + boat trip, transfer to Mülheim

Today you cycle up the Moselle on the Maare-Moselle cycle path to Trier. On the way, you will get to know Piesport, the largest wine-growing community on the Moselle. Just a stone's throw away you reach Neumagen-Dhron, one of the oldest wine villages in Germany with its wine ship. Following the bends of the Moselle, you reach Trier. The city takes you back to Roman times and presents a piece of its 2000-year-old past at almost every corner. Get to know the city from the water on a boat tour (included). In the evening, take the cycle bus (included) back to Mülheim.

Day 3: Transfer to Daun, Daun – Mülheim, approx. 55 km

The day starts with a cycle bus (included) to Daun. The town lies in the middle of the volcanic Eifel, which is characterised by volcanic lakes known as maars. In the centre of Daun, you can learn more about the geological history of the region at the Eifel Volcano Museum. On the Maare-Moselle cycle path, a disused railway line, you cycle back to the Moselle in a relaxed manner with virtually no inclines. On the way, you will cycle through tunnels, over and under bridges and enjoy the scent of the meadows and forests along the way. On your return to Mülheim, a wine tasting awaits you (included).

Day 4: Mülheim – Traben-Trarbach – Mülheim, approx. 60 km and individual departure

Before your journey ends on the Maare-Moselle cycle path, you can take a detour to Traben-Trarbach. First you reach the little half-timbered town of Bernkastel-Kues down the Moselle. Surrounded by steep vineyards, the town impresses with its colourful half-timbered houses and small alleyways. After the next Moselle loop, you cycle through the well-known Kröver Nacktarsch wine-growing region. In Traben-Trarbach, you will get to know a town with one of the most beautiful riverside promenades on the Moselle. After your excursion to Traben-Trarbach, you will return to Mülheim, where you will depart on your own. We are happy to extend your stay on the Moselle with an extra night in Mülheim.
